CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

Some said it "wasn't too bad" while others said "it's the worst movie I've ever seen." But whichever way they believed, it was one of the best-attended movies ever to hit Belle Glade.

Empire of the Ants, which was filmed partially in and around Belle Glade "filled up" the 240 spaces at the Lake Drive-In two nights in a row, which according to co-owner Jerry Gold is rare indeed.

"We had a sell-out crowd as recently as a week ago," Jerry said Saturday. "but it's really rare to have one two nights in a row for the same attraction."

Jerry also said the average number of people in each of the vehicles was up substantially and said the movie's interest was because it was filmed locally.

"Just wish we could get a few more like this one," Jerry said.

"It just so happens I can make a strong recommendation. I happened to be in on the filming of another movie, this one shot at Cecil Clemons Gatorama in Palmade, a hamlet situated just off US 27 north of Moore Haven.

But that's alright with Jerry and crew. Being the only drive-in within 30 miles is pretty good, and when a movie such as Empire comes along, it's even better.

But I doubt the crowds would be as strong. It's entitled "Night of the Vemon" and stars Cecil's large collection of alligators and crocs as the "big names".

It's also in black and white. And Spanish.

But it was interesting watching scenes being shot. In one particular scene, the gators and crocs were supposed to descend upon a dummy cast upon a turbulent waters and tear it limb from limb.

But they hadn't memorized their parts well enough. Or maybe they were dissatisfied with the wage scale. Anyway, they struck and my word even nudged the dummy, floating so un-lifelike upon the placid water.

So the dummy was hauled back onto the catwalk that separates visitors from crocs and stuffed full of rotting, smelly chicken parts. A few of the parts were cast into the water, to create a desire in the part of the gators. It did.

Next time the dummy hit the water, gators and crocs went mad. But the scene was still a disaster. While the smaller beasts churned the water to a froth, only one came close to the dummy and grabbed it. Happened to be the biggest, meanest, toughest croc in the pond. And instead of tipping the dummy apart and all'ing fate hood, the croc simply began to muck a leg like he was dining out at the Twenty-One.

Had awful good manners for a croc.

But the best news of the day was a story related to me by Cecil, who in his youth was one of the more "outdoors" folks in the Glades. Cecil knew where an older had his dog of a cub and had been offered $30 per cub. So he waded out and stuffed back toward his boat in the knee-deep water and grass when all of a sudden "a torpedo" came tearing through the water. Cecil knew he had been had. And the only refuge in sight was a post stuck up in the mud a few feet away.

With the speed of light, Cecil was up the pole, clinging to it with both hands and with his legs wrapped tightly around it, not more than four feet in the air.

The "torpedo" arrived shortly thereafter, shot out of the water, up the pole, and 20 pounds of enraged mother dog began taking hunkers out of both Cecil's pants and Cecil.

It didn't take Cecil long to start pitching cub out. But with each one, old mom got even more hide and blue jeans. She finally went away, carrying the brood with her. But not after one more bite.

And Cecil bears the scars to prove it.

One man's trash...

It has been said, and rightly so, that one man's trash can become another man's treasure.

Witness the increasing prevalence of yard sales, garage sales and auctions where used merchandise buyers flock for bargains.

But some trash is merely that.

With the new roads through Belle Glade, some things that weren't eyesores before have suddenly become so. Some things that have gone unnoticed have become very noticeable.

More than one person has told us "my first impression" of Belle Glade was clearly unfavorable.

First impressions, being what they are, don't take into consideration the many fine people who make Belle Glade their home. But first impressions count a great deal.

The Belle Glade Beautification Committee has been hard at work over the past several years, attempting to improve the looks of the community.

Through a system of awards, they have uplifted businesses and individuals for praise after they have cleaned, redecorated or rejuvenated their homes or businesses.

The Beautification Committee is still hard at work, coming up with ideas and utilizing their own time to make Belle Glade look better.

Our congratulations to the Committee and we hope they will keep up the good work.

Voter apathy...

A concern was expressed Monday night at the Belle Glade City Commission meeting about the new voting machines and their demonstration.

City resident Elmo Williams appeared before the commission and asked that he be allowed to demonstrate machines to people who could not otherwise see them.

Williams noted that unless these people were familiar with the new voting machines, they might not bother to take the time to vote.

This lends itself to different interpretations. If these citizens don't bother to seek out one of the demonstration sites to see the voting machine, will they bother to seek out information on candidates through which to make an intelligent choice?

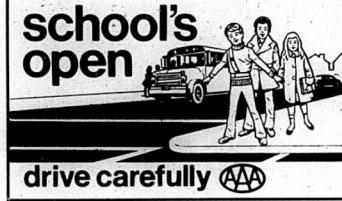

And even if the voting machines are demonstrated to them in their homes, will it really increase the number of voters who turn out during the election?

The machines are being demonstrated throughout the city and demonstrations on their operation will also be conducted on election day.

Citizens do not have a "duty" to vote. Voting is a privilege they can take advantage of if they so desire. But in our minds, we have a "duty" to make an intelligent choice once at the polls.

Simply voting for Candidate X because you were told by someone else he's a "good ole boy" isn't enough upon which to base a decision on something as important as to who will represent you in the upcoming years.

Certainly the machines need to be demonstrated. But voters must show some initiative themselves.

W.S.W.N. Station Nearing Completion

Tom Watson, Jr., manager of radio Station WSWN, traveled to Fort Pierce on Wednesday with three members of the radio station staff, where they studied radio station operations at WIRA.

Accompanying Watson were Mrs. Julia Chappell, who will be WSWN's traffic manager; Mrs. Nellie Horn, bookkeeper, and Bill Eggleston, apprentice announcer.

Watson has announced that he expects the new 1000-watt Everglades station to be in operation by September 15th.

Sometimes it looks like the little man don't hardly stand a chance. But I never thought I'd see the day when the big oil companies put the kind of squeeze I heard about not long ago on the independent station owner.

I always thought that if I ever got tired of newspaper work, I'd get a station. That's where all the money is anyway.

No, I'm not sure.

Place where I do business, the owner told me not too awful long ago the company is really pressuring him to do a number of things he doesn't want to do.

Like installing self-service, doing away with the extras on hand like his car wash, mechanic's service, and what have you and staying open seven days a week, 24 hours a day.

He said the company representative even went so far as to accuse him of running the station in his own best interests instead of the company's interest.

"Hell, yes, he said, "I'm running it for my own benefit. That's why I got in the business, not to make Mogul Oil (the names are changed to protect the innocent, the not-so-innocent and us from libel suits) rich."

Then he went on to tell how the company rep told him that if he didn't change his ways, sell more gas and lower the overhead to make more money for the company, they were going to double his lease when the contract renewal time rolls around; either he could pay double his lease, go to work for the company as a station manager or get out of the business.

"That's what's wrong with America today," he went on, really getting wound up. "The companies are making it so tough on the little man he can't stay in business and they're going to force us all out."

"And in the meantime," he said, "they're doing just the opposite of what they say about us. We could cut down the amount of gas the people used if we just shut down the stations on Sundays. You wouldn't have to put a nickel a gallon on the price of gas they'd keep people from buying it."

And the guy makes a certain amount of sense.

Here's the peanut farmer on the one hand telling us we gotta cut down drastically on the amount of gas we burn and here, the oil companies are trying to find more ways to sell more gas.

Looks like someone oughta get that act together.

And give the little man a break while they're doing it.

Women's movement discussed

Two new members were inducted and an all-male audience heard the vice president of the Palm Beach Chapter of National Organization for Women (NOW) lobby for the Equal Rights Amendment Tuesday at the regular meeting of the Belle Glade Rotary Club.

The new members are Walter Kreidler and John Pitts, who were sworn into the club by Fred Simmons.

The NOW speaker was Mrs. Maureen Galbraith, who was introduced by program chairman Larry Fowler.

Ms. Galbraith began her talk by congratulating the Rotary on its fine brotherhood and said what women need is something similar.

She "summed up" her feelings about the women's movement by saying it was like being on a road. "You know your destination and you know you're on the right road, but you just don't know how long the road is."

She said ERA will be passed if not now, then in the future.

In a question and answer session, Ms. Galbraith said ERA was a "very personal" issue. When quizzed on exactly what would be accomplished by passage of the ERA, she pointed out "chattel laws" that make a wife her husband's possession, saying these would be done away with.

She said there is a great deal of confusion over ERA and what it will or won't accomplish. "It's like an affirmation" (of equality) she said.

Ms. Galbraith said there were some roles that could be played only by women, and some that were for men only, but said her movement is aimed at granting equal opportunities and options to both sexes.

She told the Rotarians language is very important, pointing out how the constitution says "All men are created equal". She said women should also be mentioned. "It's a little thing, but the little things affect us if repeated often enough", she said.

One Rotarian took exception to her interpretation, saying he felt the words "all men" meant mankind, which includes women. The next meeting of the local club will be Monday at noon with Jim Humphrey of the Little Rotary Club.

League Football Program and City Clerk June Boglioli on the program. Humphrey will explain the program and Mrs. Boglioli will demonstrate the new voting machines.

He asked the commission to write letters saying they had no objections to the parade, which the commission agreed to do so long as normal parade procedures are carried out.

It will be the first project of the Council.

USDA increases payments for lunch, breakfast, day care

ASHINGTON—Carol Tucker Fornan, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture for Food and Consumer Services, has announced that the school lunch, breakfast, and child care programs will receive increased payments adjusted to reflect the change in the Consumer Price Index (CPI) series for food away from home.

The adjustments, effective July 1, reflect the 4.9 percent increase in the CPI for the six month period, Nov. 1976 to May 1977.

The increased payments paid to schools and institutions through state agencies help defray meal preparation costs in the national school lunch, school breakfast, and child care food program.

The national average payment for the school lunch program will be increased from 15.2 cents to 14 cents for each lunch served. Within that average states are authorized by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) to vary the rate of reimbursement up to a maximum of 20 cents per lunch.

The additional average payment for lunches served to needy children will be increased from 50 cents to 53 cents for a reduced-price lunch and from 60 cents to 63 cents for a free lunch. The maximum total reimbursement states may pay schools and institutions has been increased from 78.25 cents to 82 cents for a reduced-price lunch and from 88.25 cents to 92 cents for a free lunch.

Under the school breakfast program, the national average payment will be increased from 10.75 cents to 11.25 cents for each breakfast served. The additional average payment for each reduced price breakfast will be increased from 20 cents to 21 cents. The additional average payment for a free breakfast will be increased from 26.73 cents to 28 cents. Maximum rates of reimbursement states may pay especially needy schools and institutions will remain at 40 cents for each reduced-price breakfast and at 45 cents for each free breakfast served.

Under the child care food program, states will receive the same payments for breakfasts as those for the school breakfast program, and the same payments for lunches and suppers as those for the national school lunch program. Payments for each mid-morning and mid-afternoon snack allowed under the child care food program have been increased from 5.50 cents to 5.75 cents. The additional average payments for reduced-price snacks under this program will increase from 11 cents to 11.50 cents, and free snacks will increase from 16.50 cents to 17.25 cents.

In lieu of maintaining records on the actual cost of food used, sponsors of family and group day care homes in the child care food program may use food as a factor of 44.25 cents for each lunch or dinner, 24.75 cents for each breakfast, and 15 cents for each supplement served. These factors are also adjusted semi-annually to reflect changes in the CPI.

The rates of payment are scheduled to appear in the Federal Register of Friday, July 1.

Elect Ray Sullivan

City Commissioner—South Bay Group One

Tuesday, September 6th

South Bay, "The Crossroads of The Everglades," is fast becoming "Prime Location", both large and small business since our four lanes are nearing completion.

This, in turn, will offer many new jobs for our citizens. We need these new businesses and we need these new jobs for our people. It therefore becomes very important that we have hard working City Commissioners and City employees to put forth the extra effort necessary to provide new housing projects, upgrade our streets, build new ones; upgrade our water plant, better our garbage pick-up, sewage, etc., to meet all the oncoming demands.

I am 53 years old and have lived in South Bay since 1952. I served on the City Council four years back in the 1950's. I own a business in South Bay and have worked as an employee for a couple of the large businesses here. My age and experience qualifies me to run for City Commissioner.

Thank you

Lions discuss plans

PAHOKEE-The Pahokee Lion's Club, at its weekly noon meeting Tuesday, discussed several business items, and heard a short talk by guest Bill Swartz, Deputy District Governor of Lions and a member of the Clewiston Lion's Club.

Club President Phelix Slonaker reported that Sunday was a successful day for the Pahokee Lion's who operated a concession stand at the Air Show at Tifford that day. Profits from the activity were approximately $215.

Members also discussed a proposal by a local businessman to lease the Lion building so that a restaurant can be operated there. Although no plans have been made, the proposal has already met opposition from residents in the neighborhood.

Those involved agreed that if the lease is granted, they would serve the Lion's Club it's weekly noon meal on Tuesdays and would cater to other clubs requesting such service.

The property is zoned military, Slonaker said, and has been since the late 1940's and early 50's when the American Legion built the structures. Three ladies showed up to oppose having a restaurant in a residential section of town. "We don't feel a restaurant belongs here," one of the ladies said.

Lion J. S. Atkins said that the need for a restaurant in Pahokee should be taken into consideration, also noting that he could not see why a restaurant there would be detrimental to homes in the area because of the distance the building is from homes.

Lion Mayor Duncan Padgett explained to the ladies that the club operates at a large overhead with a small number of members. So, using "good business sense, we're going to have to fold up, accept the restaurant proposal.

Lion M. I. Keen said he is not in favor of selling the building, for it took 15 years to get the property and "the money to buy the property." As long as there is a Lion's Club, we should keep the property," he said.

After a meeting of the Board of Directors, the subject will be discussed again among all members. But no decision has yet been made on whether or not to rent out or quit."

BELLE GLADE—Miss Mariangel Ruiz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymundo Ruiz, of 732 S. E. Fourth St. in Belle Glade, became the bride of Jesus Avila, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Avila of 309 N.W. 14th St. in Belle Glade.

Father Paul Saghy officiated the double ring ceremony held July 29 at St. Philip Benizi Catholic Church in Belle Glade.

Miss Lydia Quevedo sang "We've Only Just Begun," accompanied by Mrs. Gordon, the organist.

The church was decorated with arrangements of gladioli, blue sprayed carnations and chrysanthemums held on white marble pedestals. An arch with bride and groom's names made from blue sprayed carnations and greenery completed the decorations.

Miss Ruiz, escorted to the altar by her father, wore an empire style organza gown with sheer sleeves accented with lace and pearls. The full skirt, adorned with pearls and lace, and was trimmed at the hem with chantilly lace. Her illusion veil was complemented by a tiara made with pearls. She carried a cascade of yellow roses.

Miss Lucia Molina of Belle Glade, served as maid of honor. She wore a blue floor-length Empire cut dress, bare at one shoulder, with a sheer cape trimmed in lace over it. A host of the same material complemented the dress. Miss Molina carried a bouquet of blue sprayed carnations.

Recipe
of the Week

MRS. PENNIE
HUGHES

CHICKEN DIVAN

2 ten-oz. packages frozen broccoli spears
8 chicken breast halves 2 cans Cream of Chicken soup
½ cup milk
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese

Cook the broccoli only until separated. Cook the chicken in boiling water until done (25 - 30 minutes). Bone it. Arrange the broccoli in a 9 x 13 shallow Pyrex dish and top with the chicken. Blend the soup and the milk and pour over all. Sprinkle with the cheese. If you wish you may stop here, cover the dish with waxed paper and tin foil and freeze. To cook, bake at 450° for 15 minutes or until hot. Yields 7 to 8 servings. A good luncheon main dish.

This week's recipe was furnished by Mrs. Pennie Hughes. Mrs. Hughes works at Hughes Pharmacy where her husband is the proprietor. She is the organist at St. John's Episcopal Church in Belle Glade.

Directory assistance calls now costing

Southern Bell's call allowance Directory Assistance plan was responsible for cutting local home service increases in half, according to the Company. And since about 95 percent of the customers in the 19 other states with similar plans do not exceed their allowance, the Company predicts that the majority of its customers will seldom, if ever, see a charge on their bill.

Louis G. Group Manager E. Carlton White, said that most of the plan's benefit comes from large expense savings with only a small amount of money coming from directory assistance billing of heavy P. A. users. That results in real savings for the customer, not just a shifting of cost from one service to another.

These expense reductions had a major impact on rates in the Company's rate case, he said, reducing planned increases for basic monthly local service charges by 60 cents a line. Increases in local coin telephone rates dropped from an additional 30 cents a line.

As a reminder to customers, White said, operators will begin Monday asking those who call Directory Assistance for their numbers. This will give frequent callers time to make preparations before the actual start of the plan.

Under the Directory Assistance plan, each customer line will have an allowance of six calls a month, with two requests per call allowed. Calls over that amount will be charged 15 cents each. The six calls, 12 requests, allowance is designed to meet normal Directory Assistance needs, including numbers not listed in the directory, and ones that are listed but are difficult to find.

Experience in the 19 other states and General Telephone Company, which currently have similar Directory Assistance plans, show that few customers come close to using their full monthly allowance, much less exceed it.

The Florida call allowance, White added, is greater than most plans in effect, while the 20 cent charge is lower than the 20 cent charge made in most other states.

Calls to long distance Directory Assistance outside of the subscriber's area code are exempt from charging. Also exempt are coin telephone users, hotel guests, hospital patients, and people with handicaps preventing them from using the directory.

The Company is particularly concerned, White said, that persons who cannot use the directory because of a physical handicap know about their exemption rights. Exemption for these people applies to their telephone both at home and at work.

Before a customer can be exempted, however, he must fill out a simple form and return it to the Company. Forms for both business and residence exemptions are available from all Southern Bell Business Offices and from local service organization which will be announced in the near future.

Women's softball

Wallis still in the lead

By Karen Hansford

With the Glades Women's Softball League regular season drawing to a close, the Dixie Fried Chicken players lost in a 13-12 heart-stopper to Local 2125, then finished strong with a 9-6 victory over South Bay Growers.

The team, winning three out of its last four games, tied with Miami Herald with a seven win-eight loss record, but lost third place to Miami Herald because of being beaten by the team twice during the season.

In Tuesday's game, Aug. 16, Dixie Fried edged ahead of Local 2125 in the third inning with one run to Local. They rallied for three singles and took advantage of four errors for the eight of those runs in the third inning. Donna Garcia hit the first of two doubles to help Local's offense.

Norma Santos added another run for Dixie Fried in the fourth, but Local's offense gained it back in the next inning when Paula Anderson scored.

The score was 12-8 in Dixie's favor going into the bottom of the seventh inning as Local went to bat. Donna Garcia led off with a double into left-centerfield and went home on Linda Marie single. Dixie Fried allowed Miami to score as they committed one getting the next two batters out, making it 12-10 with only one out to go. Local wasn't down yet as Barbara Harzog and Patty McLeod each got singles and Julie Kornya reached first base on an error, then Chris Zawadski knocked in the winning run with a grounder to the right side of the field for Local's ninth win.

The second game of the evening found Miami Herald securing third place with an 11-5 triumph over Glades Sugar.

Rachel Mills and Marie Crawford, rounded the bases for Miami Herald in the first inning for two runs to Glades Sugar's one by Lisa Logan. Miami Herald pulled away in the second with five runs for a total of seven. Sherry Miller knocked in a run for Glades Sugar with a double down the middle in the bottom of the ninth.

The game was clearly Miami's as the girls went for four runs in the fourth inning and held Glades Sugar to one each in the third, fourth and sixth innings. Miller walloped a triple for another run in the sixth inning. The final score was Miami Herald 11; Glades Sugar 5.

In Thursday's action, Wallis Heralds pounded Miami Herald for 20 runs off 17 base hits to nine runs for Miami.

Wallis led off with two in the first inning when Karen Hansford and Cheryl Weller combined to knock in one of the runs. Miami Herald threatened but couldn't score as Marie Crawford took a third strike. Janie Priest was tagged out on a shortstop-to-catcher throw for the second out and Donita Adams was forced out at first base.

The second inning was scoreless, then Wallis Pharmacy began to show its dominance as the team rallied for 13 runs in the third with every runner but one scoring. Donna Akim whacked a two-base hit and Annette Davis smashed two doubles into leftfield to help the team.

won the first place trophy while Pahokee's Miami Herald team followed as the second place winner.

Meeting is held on farm thefts

DENNIS E. EMERSON of the Florida Farm Bureau Federation explains the steps involved in getting an identification number in order to deter burglaries in both the home and farm.

Candidate Frey visits the Glades

BELLE GLADE—Congressman Lou Frey of Orlando, an announced candidate for governor, visited in the Glades Wednesday in a meeting set up by county commissioner Bill Bailey.

Frey, a Republican, was questioned by around 50 area agribusiness leaders and local Republicans during the luncheon meeting at the Glades Sugar Growers Co-operative mill.

Frey vowed to change the state's anti-business attitude, if he was elected and noted Florida was in a unique position to take advantage of solar energy to produce usable power.

He said jobs follow energy and this was in tune with his desire to diversify the economy of the state.

"Energy and the development of new technology will be the key to Florida's economy," he told the gathering.

In a question and answer seshion, Frey said environmental issues between environmentalists and agriculture could be worked out through reasonable compromise.

He also said the administration of Gov. Reubin Askew had "tripped the state budget, and doubled the state payroll" since the present governor was first elected.

Frey told the group he was going into the race "ready" for a primary, including top Democratic contenders Robert Shenvin and Bill Gunter.

He noted he will likely be outspent and "outpromised" by other candidates, but vowed to leave Florida a better place than where he found it.

Frey said he was in the race because the governor's office was where he could do more good than in any other.

Auditorium moves closer to reality

The possibility of a community auditorium on the Glades campus came a little closer at the August meeting of the Palm Beach Junior College District Board of Trustees.

The trustees voted to approve the Smith Architectural Group, Inc., for preliminary planning and cost estimates for the auditorium.

If the effort to obtain an auditorium succeeds anytime in the near future, it will be because of a cooperative effort between the college, the city of Belle Glade and interested citizens of the Glades area, and the county commission.

Classrooms and other facilities used entirely for instruction take priority over auditoriums in the use of college construction funds.

The state, however, is interested in joint college-community projects, and will provide double matching funds in some instances.

The possibility of a Glades auditorium came about because of a gift of $70,000 to the college by the Florida Sun Growers Cooperative in January, 1975.

It is hoped that interest on that donation, plus other private donations from the Glades area citizens, will bring the total to $100,000 from the Glades.

The county commission has been informally requested to add another $75,000.

If double state matching funds can be obtained, a half million dollar facility for the joint use of the community and the college can be built on the new Glades campus.

In other action involving the Glades campus, the board agreed to a cooperative arrangement with Good Samaritan Institute.

The Institute will furnish the equivalent of three full-time employees for grounds and maintenance and the college will waive fees for prisoners on rehabilitation programs in return.

BELLE GLADE—The Florida Farm Bureau Federation held a safety meeting Monday, August 22. Dennis Emerson, assistant to the president, conducted the meeting.

The subject of the safety meeting was agricultural crime prevention. By coding farm and home property with a ten character number listed with the sheriff's department, many burglaries can be stopped.

A film depicting the results or stolen property both with and without the number helped to point out the benefits of this system.

This program offers hope at a time when it is greatly needed. Rural crime has risen by 20 percent in the last year. One reason for this is the high value of farm equipment itself. Most farmers have up to $100,000 tied up in farm equipment, and most farm equipment is not required to be licensed or titled.

Another reason crime is up in the rural areas is because many homes and storage places are isolated and poorly lit. Many pieces of equipment are used seasonally and are only thought about then.

Organized crime has moved into agricultural property stealing, presenting a major problem. There is a big market for farm equipment in South America and this is where organized crime comes in.

The National Identification Program for Personal Property can vastly deter this crime. There are many advantages to this identification program in that it brings uniformity and standardization to the owner and identification concept.

A third advantage to the program is that stolen property can be traced back to the rightful owner if the equipment is sold, if the owner moves, and others are available at the sheriff's office.

An advantage that points to the program's efficiency is that individual identification numbers never change within the state.

A major reason to participate in this safety program is that the identification number can be applied to all personal property.

The national identification program operates simply and efficiently. The first step is to go to the sheriff's office and obtain a number. The number consists of ten characters, the first five identifying the state and county, and the last five identifying the individual.

The owner then purchases a stamping tool or engraver and applies it to all his equipment. The sheriff's office will recommend where to stamp.

The equipment will then be stamped in a standard place and also in a place that only the owner will know. This is done in case the original engraving is filed off. The sheriff's office has all the information available on this project. Answers to questions such as what happens if the equipment is sold, if the owner moves, and others are available at the sheriff's office. Interested persons are asked to contact Captain Frank Fogelman.

Prime areas of interest to the local agricultural property owners were the stealing of tires and batteries. Ways of marking these items are also available.

Retired Captain Claude Tindall answered questions and offered his and the sheriff's department's cooperation and help.

This identification program originated in Iowa and has been successful there. Emerson stated that it can be successful here, too, if enough interest is generated.

He said that he hoped people would get involved here and help stop the rising agricultural crime rate.

The meeting ended with Captain Tindall's introduction of Michael York and his canine partner and their offer of any assistance possible.

Rising cost

alarm local cane grower

ORLANDO—Agribusiness leaders throughout Florida are worried about shrinking profit margins. The continuing rise in prices farmers pay for good and services and labor are cutting into their already low return on investment.

Fourty-three percent of the Institute's membership who responded to the annual survey identified financial worries as their number one problem this year. They are paying more for fuel, insurance, feed, electrical energy, and labor. Meanwhile income from sales are staying about the same.

Lewis Friend, a sugar grower in Pahokee, says that it is a bad financial situation at best for sugar growers. "It costs us 13½ cents to grow sugar and we're only getting 10 cents return on the market," Friend continued. "Five years ago we paid $10,000 for a tractor which would cost us $30,000 today. Needless to say we are putting off buying that new tractor and other things we need. What happens to farmers affects the whole economy of our area. When we are in a loss situation people are laid off, our suppliers don't do as much business, bank deposits decline and everything slows."

The nursery industry is also off. Joseph Shaw, of Shaw Nursery in South Miami said, "We produce a non-essential product. It is tougher to sell in a slow economy."

William Shirey of Shirey Dairy in Vero Beach told the institute, that he pays 50 cents more per 100 pounds of feed this year. "This doesn't bother us because, we expect feed prices to go up and down. But, what really hurts is increases in electricity, insurance, and repairs. Our electricity bill has gone up from $695 to $900 a month, for the same number of kilowatt hours. We've experienced an increase of about 15 percent this year in material and supplies...Repairs bills for refrigeration equipment have gone up from $3,000 per hour, from $18.00 to $21.00 for a service call."

Citrus growers are also facing increases. Byron Herlong, of A.S. Herlong Co., in Leesburg says, that everything is going up.

The rising costs of production—grasses, labor, fertilizer, and chemicals have all increased. When money is tight we try to find ways to cut down on expenses. But, when it is dry we have to irrigate. When insects are a problem we have to spray. And when it freezes we have to protect our trees."

The Institute is a non-profit organization and public relations organization serving farmers and ranchers as well as those who provide services to Florida Farmers.

Japanese student visits local family

BELLE GLADE—Masako Nagasawa, a twenty-year-old student at the College of Pharmacy in Tokyo, Japan, has been the guest at the Milton Carpenter home the last three weeks.

Miss Nagasawa is one of twenty-five Japanese youths visiting Florida this summer as exchange youths with the Lions International Club.

The visit to America is for six weeks, three with a family and three with another. Miss Nagasawa's first three weeks in the U.S. were spent with a family in Lake Wales, then she came to Belle Glade to stay with the Carpenters.

The reason for her visit to America is that at twenty in Japan, one is considered an adult, therefore Masako felt she had to prove herself as a dependable adult. She explains, in her soft-spoken English, that at first she was a bit apprehensive because she fear that she might not be able to communicate, but once she arrived, she felt more relaxed.

Amazed at the freedom the American youths are allowed, she relates how in Japan a young lady does not kiss her boyfriend unless she is positive that he is her choice for a husband.

Masako will graduate from college in November and would like to come to live in the United States, in a small town like Belle Glade. Living in such a crowded city like Tokyo, Masako doesn't have the opportunity to admire the beauty of nature and very seldom sees an empty field. She would like to see a full rainbow, not one "from building to building," meaning that the times rainbows appear in Tokyo she searches in between the buildings to see them.

Her number one sport is swimming, but she seldom swims in the ocean around Tokyo, "all the people there have made the water very dirty," but she visits the many pools in the city as often as she wishes. She enjoys tennis, Japanese tennis, that is which is different from the sport we are used to playing. The ball used is soft, and only the backhand is used.

Mr. Carpenter and his family took her scuba diving at the Athletic Club's pool where Mr. Carpenter felt she would be "safe." Masako enjoyed that very much.

She finds life in the United States very different, the cost of living is not as high as in Japan because there aren't as many people as in her own country.

A cup of coffee in a restaurant will cost $1 and if the restaurant's prices are high it will be $2. A steak will cost $20, but she explains that anything else is moderately priced considering the great demand for different products.

Masako is a member of the ski (snow) club in her college. She has been the winner two times in the grand slalom races, where the skiing is down hill on a zigzag course. Competition among other colleges in the area makes it a challenge for the students.

Masako's family back in Japan is similar to your typical American family. Her father is the owner of a construction company, and the immediate past president of the Lions Club in Tokyo; her mother is a housewife. Masako's sister is older than her and she is married. Therefore, Masako is the only one left home.

THE MILTON CARPENTER FAMILY has gone Japanese since Lions' International exchange student Masako Nagasawa came to visit the family in its new home in Belle Glade. Peggy Ruth Carpenter, Miss Nagasawa, and Milton Carpenter kneel in the traditional Japanese greeting position. The kimonos Peggy Ruth and Milton are wearing were gifts from Miss Nagasawa. Milton's design bears the Lions International insignia.

Staff Photo

Miss Nagasawa is the third guess the Carpenters have entered. Eight years ago two young men from Brazil were the guests at the Carpenters' home and Mr. Carpenter likes to comment on how attached to these young people they become in such short time. How they have followed these young men from students to professionals.

Having these two young men from Brazil was a real experience to the Carpenters because their way of life, ideas on politics and life itself was very different, but their ancestors, as well as some of our own, came from Europe. But Masako is from the Orient, where the customs and ideas on life are so much different.

"I think that we have learned more from Masako than she has learned from us," Mr. Carpenter stated. "We hope to have thirty youths come from Japan next year and thirty youths from here go over because it is a real experience for the young person as well as for the family."

Masako plans to return to the United States, and she says that she will be glad to return to Belle Glade where she has met so many young people and has made so many friends.

PRETTY MISS MASAKO NAGASAWA has been visiting with the Milton Carpenter family for the past three weeks as an exchange student of Lions International. She is a native of Japan.

IT MAY LOOK SIMPLE, but the traditional Japanese kimono isn't as easy to put on as it first appears. In order to make the dress "hang" right, Masako Nagasawa has to help her friend Peggy Ruth Carpenter.

In every organization, there are certain people who deserve the title indispensable. Also in many organizations there are those people who are called institutions. Not often does an organization, whether business or government, lay claim to an individual who is both an institution and indispensable. The City of Belle Glade has one such man in their Public Works Department. This individual is Bill Able.

Able seems to have been at the city garage or working for the city as long as most can remember. His service to the city has spanned a long period of time but not as long as some believe. Bill Able has worked for Belle Glade for about twenty years! But this is his second career.

He was born October 5, 1907 in Forest City, Arkansas, the son of a millwright. A mechanic by trade, he started working on machines at the age of 13 on the old "Model T" cars, leaving school when he completed the ninth grade at the age of sixteen.

He went to work with a construction firm in Memphis, Tennessee, the L.A. Tvedt Construction Co. and stayed with the firm for 25 years.

A split in his service occurred during the war years when he worked five years with E.I. DuPont Co. After the war he returned to work with his former employers.

In 1955, Able came to Belle Glade with his employer to work on one of the camping stations in the area. In 1958 the company was dissolved by the owners' widow who did not wish to continue the company. Able child in high school at the time and did not want to leave.

At 16-year Able went to work for the city as a mechanic, and over the years has supervised the city garage. Now he does outside maintenance for the city because of his health.

Able has two daughters and one son, nine grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

About five years ago he discovered he had cancer, but this does not stop him from working. It has only slowed him down slightly.

Able was married to his first wife for 40 years. In 1960 she died of cancer. He married again in 1967.

Even though Bill Able is coming up on his 70th birthday, he keeps on working, and this very likely keeps him looking younger than his years.

For a man who has had two careers, both of over twenty years, retirement seems very remote. A saying very appropriate to this man is that he loves to answer questions about his outside interests, "My work is my hobby, I love my work."

Bill Able is expected to work as long as his health stays good. And it appears he will be around for a long time yet.

Indispensable
Institution

BILL ABLE HAS BEEN DESCRIBED as an "Indispensable institution" by those who know him and who work for the City of Belle Glade. He says his main hobby is work.

local Sheriff's office

Lions meet Lt. Fogleman

BELLE GLADE—Captain Tindall, retired head of the Belle Glade Sheriff's Department, introduced Lt. Frank Fogleman to the Lions Club Wednesday, August 17.

Lt. Fogleman addressed the group informally, stressing his pleasure at being back in the Belle Glade area after serving six hard years as a member of the Palm Beach Vice Squad.

Lt. Fogleman originally came to Belle Glade in 1966, where he worked for the sheriff's office. He stated that he thinks the Glades area was an excellent place to train since he got to gain experience in all phases of police work.

Lt. Fogleman also stated that the people in the Belle Glade area are not getting a fair share of their bills. For this reason, a top priority item is to try to get a criminal justice complex in the Glades area.

Another new item will be the canine unit Apache, the trained German Shepherd who assist mainly in agricultural surveillance. The purpose for Apache is to slow down the problems of the agriculture property owners.

CAPTAIN CLAUDE TINDALL introduces Lt. Frank Fogleman to the Lions Club. Lt. Fogleman spoke on his various plans, offering his utmost cooperation to the people of the Glades.

In summary, Lt. Fogleman offered his services to the public and said that he would do anything he could to help, and for the public just to let him know.

He also said that he was looking forward to making new friends and reacquainting with his old ones.

Make sure you read the label

By Dian Lidinsky,
Registered Dietician,
Everglades Memorial Hospital

Here we sit at the breakfast table - half awake, our eyes blurry and we look for something to do while we spoon our now soggy "dry" cereal. The colorful cereal box has the candy coated cereal special mail-in deals enticing rhetoric about the great plastic toy inside attracts our attention. But, read on. There is some thing really informative printed on the box. In fine print, very inconspicuous, but nevertheless, very meaningful. "Nutrition information" is what I want you to look for and which would benefit you to read.

On the box of cereal that I am examining the label first mentions serving size. Eleven servings of one ounce (or 1 1/4 cup) each. We are starting out lucky because some foods do not tell you the weight or size of a serving. Next the label goes into detail about the amounts of calories, protein, carbohydrates and fat in one serving.

Calories are most often associated with getting fat. But we all need calories because calories provide our bodies with necessary energy. You could not put your mind and body in gear without any calories to provide the needed energy. Next item on the label is protein. Protein does the main job of building body tissue and protein also helps in the energy department. Carbohydrate also gives energy and our system depends on the supply of carbohydrate. And finally there is fat. Fat is the most concentrated form of energy. It is so concentrated one measure of fat will provide more than twice the energy of two measures of carbohydrate or protein. This brand of cereal claims that each ounce contains the following: 110 calories, 6 gm. protein, 21 gm carbohydrate, and 0 gm. fat. (A gram is a metric measure of weight. 28 grams equal 1 ounce.)

Often the food processor will include the amounts of sodium and cholesterol. If claims are made that a particular brand is low in these contents, then the amount of sodium and cholesterol in a serving must be indicated.

Read on; there is more on the label. "Percentage of U.S. Recommended Daily Allowances (U.S. RDA)" comes next. U.S. RDA's are the amounts of protein, vitamins, and minerals that one needs each day to stay healthy. The Food and Drug Administration has the responsibility of setting the daily requirements. (Remember, these amounts are based on the average needs for an average adult.) As mentioned earlier, U.S. RDA's are listed by percentages; therefore; "Vitamin A - 25%" means that one serving of that particular food contains 25% of the recommended Vitamin A daily requirement.

I hope this explanation helps you to understand nutrition labeling because reading labels should become a habit rather than a pastime. By reading labels you can compare nutritional values of the various brands along with the price. If you are on a diet, you can keep track of your calorie intake by adding the amounts shown per serving on the various foods you eat during the day. Those of you who are on low salt or low sugar diets must especially read the labels before purchasing. The same food prepared by a different food processor may have big differences in its labels. So shoppers and cooks, for the sake of health and economy, Be Able to Read the Label!

What joy in life is seen in those eyes. That smile is given freely to everyone. Now look at them both. Which one am I talking about? Aren't they both the same? No, she's not an exact carbon copy of her mother — for when you look again, you see that there is a generation between them. She wears the bright colors in her dress with the cute designs. Her dreams are different than her mother's. She is more outgoing. Yet in the mother you can see a quiet humor and in her closeness to her daughter, a gentle protectiveness. Her mother's dreams are sometimes too ambitious, but in the "Encouragement Department" she works just fine.

There is one dream and ambition they both have, however; and that is to be like our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ and to be of service to the church. Their goodness is of God.

"For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and His ears are open unto their prayers; but the face of the Lord is against them that do evil." 1 Peter 3:12.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedom which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a son of God.

Inter-Coastal in fourth year of business

Paul Grooms and Robert Whidden are partners in INTER-COASTAL Auto Electric & Air Conditioning Service. INTER-COASTAL is involved in the repair and sales of automotive equipment.

INTER-COASTAL specialized in rebuilding electrical units. They will do work for the individual. Basically, INTER-COASTAL does benchwork on agricultural equipment, such as alternators, starters, generators, batteries, etc.

INTER-COASTAL is in its fourth year of business. Both Paul and Robert worked in this business for others and decided that it would be more advantageous to be in business for themselves. With Paul's knowledge of parts and Robert's of service, it was natural for them to set up a business.

Paul and Robert are holders of the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence certificates. This is a voluntary mechanic certification program. In Michigan this program is mandatory, and they hope it becomes a law here soon.

Profile In Business

INTER-COASTAL is a listed AC Delco jobber. They also handle Prestolite, and Motorola, but work on any make or model with the exception of foreign cars.

Paul Grooms was born and reared in Riverside, California. He lived there until 1968, when he came to Belle Glade. He had three uncles here and worked for them for one year. He then worked for others in the parts department, and finally formed the partnership with Robert.

Grooms' wife, Donna, is originally from Clewiston, but lived a great deal of her life in Pahokee.

The Grooms recently bought a new house and this is keeping them very busy. In his spare time, Paul enjoys boating and swimming.

Robert Whidden was born and raised in Ft. Myers. He moved to Belle Glade in 1972, where he worked for a local generator shop. In 1974, he teamed up with Paul to form INTER-COASTAL.

Robert is married to Edna, and they have two children, Robin, 9, and Rhonda, 4. He enjoys hunting, fishing, and lobster hunting.

INTER-COASTAL recently gained a new employee. He is Robert Rollins, formerly of Anderson Gulf. He hopes his old customers will stop by for a visit.

As to the future of INTER-COASTAL, both Paul and Robert are optimistic. They said that they had survived the road to success for the last two years, so they feel like they should be here for a while. Both agree that they have been growing and would like to continue to do so.
